THE EVELLO ADVANTAGE

Evello's patented technology provides the user with inherent advantages over other extraction systems, allowing for extraction of freshly harvested green biomass, or, alternatively, dried biomass. In addition, Evello's closed loop systems seamlessly integrate the various integral processes into one processing flow, providing a clean and efficient way to extract high quality botanical oils. This eliminates the need to purchase ancillary equipment, thus providing the user a distinct advantage over comparable systems. Our technology is user-friendly with a built-in simplified user interface making it easy to use.
